Holden,

Please see my statement below. We would love to get a copy of the article for our records once it has been published.

Asian Health Service Center (AHSC) led projects have been funded by United Way of the Columbia-Willamette (UWCW) for over a decade and it has been my privilege to work closely with AHSC on many of them. In June 2012, AHSC was one of only three organizations awarded both Community Investment and Capital Project grant funding through UWCW's community-based, competitive grant making process, a testament to the strength of their work and their history of positive community impact. Throughout the selection process, AHSC clearly demonstrated strong organizational capacity and a commitment to community-based solutions. AHSC is a recognized health leader, providing both culturally specific responses to the mental, physical and emotional needs of the Asian Community and guidance to mainstream providers on how best to work with members of the Asian community. Their work supports United Way's larger purpose of building strong, connected and engaged communities in the Portland metro area by focusing on education, financial stability, and health and wellbeing. We are thrilled to have the opportunity to continue to partner with AHSC.

Thank you for this opportunity!
Sarah
