

The first ever Asian Cancer Resource Center in Oregon that aims to address the full cancer continuum: prevention, screening, treatment, and survivorship support. The goal of ACRSS is to increase culturally and linguistically appropriate cancer resources, education materials, and support available to the Asian communities.

We can assist with:

Cultural specific services

- language appropriate cancer resources
- information and referral
- consultation

Treatment support

- coordinate care with treatment sites
- schedule medical visits
- explain diagnosis, treatment, and end of life cares
- Transportation support

Emotional support

- peer and support group
- resources for family caregivers
- consultation and counseling

Food and nutrition support

- nutrition information and resources
- nutrition class

Health seminars and workshops
